Chief, Regulations and Procedures Division:

Dear Sir: I occasionally drink flavored malt beverages like Smirnoff Ice or Smirnoff Ice Triple Black. I oppose the proposed regulation that changes how these drinks are made.

I object to the waste of tax dollars and the interference with citizen's personal preferences. Your agency obviously has a lot of surplus time, money and energy that could be better used by another agency, such as Homeland Security, the FBI or the CIA, or just refunded to the taxpayers.

Perhaps the money could be spent on creating a better economy. People with job security might even drink less liquor?
Dr. Bill Hatch

Thank you,
